

LAUREL Down Light

Sleek, Adjustable Surface Mount Down Light

Offered in solid brass with a weathered red brass finish, this sleek down light has an adjustable shroud making it ideal for lighting large or focused activity areas on patios, arbors, pools and paths. Laurel can be mounted high on trellises, eaves, gazebos, and mature trees.

By placing our weathered brass downlight high in a mature tree or a nearby wall and aiming it through branches or other foliage, you can recreate the appearance of moonlight filtering through tree branches onto the ground or structures below.

Designed without a lens to prevent condensation or water build up, Laurel can be paired well with our honeycomb louvre.
